HFA MEETS GOAL OF 1,000 FANS ON OFFICIAL FACEBOOK PAGE!

Washington, DC: The Hemophilia Federation of America (HFA) launched its first online community social networking medium in July 2009. HFA's official Facebook site is designed to make connections and build relationships with community members across the country. On September 19, 2009, just two months after the page was created, HFA met its 2009 year-end goal of reaching 1,000 fans.

"HFA could not have met its goal of 1,000 fans without the help of the community suggesting to their friends and family to join HFA's page. It's fun each day to watch the numbers of fans climb so quickly. The HFA Facebook page is a great place for dialogue with other people in the community, to ask questions, seek advice, and encourage others," states Katie Whittle, Social Networking Coordinator.

The HFA Facebook page offers an excellent medium for community outreach. The official site offers a variety of information including links to important legislative updates, HFA blogs, press releases, program updates and the Voices Campaign. The HFA welcomes feedback and community dialogue on the site.
